Midweek Music is a series of Wednesday lunch-time concerts starting at 1pm lasting for about 45 minutes. The concerts are free and open to everybody. The musicians are generally professionals including students from the Royal Northern College of Music and Chetham's School of Music in Manchester as well as local players. The concerts have been running for over 20 years with the audience building from 30 to now about 120 with some weeks at 160. Many musicians enjoy performing at Christ Church as they like the venue and the audience, and so they make return visits.

Midweek Music started when the new church was opened and formed part of the mission to have the church open every day for the people of Southport. Christ Church now has a new vision to be at the heart of Southport, with a heart for Southport. Events such as Midweek Music are a way to build bridges between the church and community. The vision of the church is that we might impact Southport with God's unconditional love and transforming power.

Midweek Music is a relaxing and safe way to sample one of the activities at Christ Church. Attending a concert would allow you to meet people from the church, buy refreshments at the church café and hear more about the new vision for Christ Church. We look forward to seeing you in the near future.
